

J FOR JUDGEMENT

When someone's car is stolen, we don't blame the car owner. When someone's house is broken into, we don't ask why they had gone out. When someone mugs a pensioner, we don't ask what the pensioner was wearing.

Yet when someone is sexually assaulted, the first thing many people do is start to blame the victim. Let's be clear: alcohol, walking alone and clothing don't cause rape.

A rapist chooses to rape. They are responsible.
